"Reflections" is the second album to be released by German band DeVicious in less than eight months. It was released via Metalapolis Records on 1st March. I'd posted a recommendation for the debut album "Never Say Never" and the second album certainly merits another post. The track "Long Way Home" was featured on the Friday NI Rocks Show on 22nd February.

DeVicious formed in Karlsruhe in 2016 and features Serbian singer Zoran Sandorov on vocals. The other members are bass player Alex Frey, guitarist Radivoj Petrovic, keyboard player Denis Kunz and drummer Lars Nippa. Singer Åge Sten Nilsen from Ammunition and Wig Wam duets with Sandorov on the track "Never Let You Go".

The recommendation for the first album can be found here – <http://www.rockradioni.co.uk/back-stage/music-reviews/3438-ni-rocks-recommends-never-say-never-by-devicious.html>

The new album is a little heavier than "Never Say Never", though it still sits somewhere in that broad spectrum between melodic and hard rock – hence the 'melodic hard rock' genre label that is attached online!

You can find the band website at <https://www.devicious.band/>

The band is currently finishing off a tour with Norwegian band Ammunition and have a few festival appearances in Europe arranged.

About "NI Rocks Recommends"

The simple idea behind "NI Rocks Recommends" is to acknowledge and promote some of the great music being submitted to Rock Radio NI. The albums that I'll be recommending are those that you'll hear me playing tracks from on my shows. I'll not be giving marks or ratings or analyzing the tracks in great detail; just telling you something about the artist and the album. It's a personal recommendation to go check something out, not a traditional "review"!
