It was over a year ago when I met these young lads. WARCRUX are a young metal band from around Lurgan area. A year has gone by now and these guys have stayed together, yet made a couple of changes, featuring a new bassist and drummer. With a beautiful

Sunday like today who would miss the opportunity!

This shoot was rather fun, who would have thought you could get lost going to the Odyssey area! But as the old saying goes, "it's not about the destination, its the journey!"

Shall look forward to when their EP is released!
