The name Mat Sinner appears quite regularly when I'm checking out new albums. The German bass player is probably best known as a member of Sinner, Primal Fear and Voodoo Circle but is involved in many other projects as well, including the Rock Meets Classic tour. I spoke to Mat via Skype on 21st January to talk about the new Primal Fear album "Rulebreaker" which was released via Frontiers on 29th January. We also talked about other projects that he had worked on recently, about the upcoming Rock Meets Classic tour and more.

The interview was part of the Friday NI Rocks Show broadcast on Friday 29th January, which also included an interview with guitarist Craig Goldy. This Show is now available on our MixCloud site - <https://www.mixcloud.com/NIRocks/ni-rocks-interviews-with-craig-goldy-mat-sinner-on-the-friday-ni-rocks-show-29th-jan-2016/>

NI ROCKS: Hi, welcome to the NI ROCKS Interview with Mat Sinner from Primal Fear. It's a pleasure to have you here. I've been a fan of your music for a long time and I'm excited to have you here. I'm going to start with a question about your new album, 'Rulebreaker'. I've heard that it's a really great album and I'm excited to hear more about it. Can you tell me a little bit about the album and how it came about?

MAT: We've had 'Prejudice', 'Nails and Angels', 'Onyx' so I think 'Rulebreaker' took from 'Rulebreaker'. Would you like to pick a track?
