British band Blood Red Saints released their debut album through Frontiers Records on 4th December. The band only formed in 2014 but brings together a wealth of experience. I spoke to singer Pete Godfrey by phone on 3rd December to find out more about the album and the band. This interview was included on the Friday NI Rocks Show that was broadcast on 11th December. It is available now via the On Demand Player - <http://www.rockradioni.co.uk/on-demand-player.html> - the Show uploaded on 8th December. The interview has been transcribed and posted below. It is also now on our MixCloud page -
